Down Syndrome Clinical Research Study

Barrow Neurological Institute is recruiting subjects to participate in a Down Syndrome research study. Qualified study participants will receive all study procedures at no cost.

Individuals with Down Syndrome (DS) develop Alzheimer’s disease (AD) at a much higher rate as compared to the general population. As such, participating in a clinical trial may help us understand AD and possibly implement a way to prevent AD in the future.

Are you interested in becoming a clinical research participant?

We are seeking:
- Participants with Down Syndrome
- You must be at least 21 years of age
- Control Participants without Down Syndrome (parents and siblings are encouraged to participate)
- Have a caregiver/informant who can answer questions about you

If you would like more information or learn how to participate, please contact:
Sandy Quintanilla
Barrow Neurological Institute/Dignity Health
240 W. Thomas Road, Suite 301
Phoenix, AZ 85013
(602) 406-7054
E-mail: Sandy.Quintanilla@dignityhealth.org
Down Syndrome Clinical Research Study

Barrow Neurological Institute is recruiting subjects to participate in a Down Syndrome research study. Qualified study participants will receive all study procedures at no cost.

Individuals with Down Syndrome (DS) develop Alzheimer’s disease (AD) at a much higher rate as compared to the general population. As such, participating in a clinical trial may help us understand AD and possibly implement a way to prevent AD in the future.

Are you interested in becoming a clinical research participant?

We are seeking:
- Participants with Down Syndrome
- You must be at least 21 years of age
- Control Participants without Down Syndrome (parents and siblings are encouraged to participate)
- Have a caregiver/informant who can answer questions about you

If you would like more information or learn how to participate, please contact:
Sandy Quintanilla
Barrow Neurological Institute/Dignity Health
240 W. Thomas Road, Suite 301
Phoenix, AZ 85013
(602) 406-7054
E-mail: Sandy.Quintanilla@dignityhealth.org